

WAR ON FAT AQUEDUCT JOBS

TAXPAYER ASKS THE COURT TO STOP RESERVOIR WORK.

J. H. Killough Wants the Commissioners Restrained From Building the Patterson Reservoir—Asserts That Its Real Purpose Is to Prolong Its Pay.

Supreme Court Justice Bischoff heard argument yesterday on the application of James H. Killough, suing as a taxpayer, for an injunction restraining the Aqueduct Commissioners John F. Cowan, William H. Ten Eyck, John F. Windolph and John J. Ryan from taking any further proceedings for the construction of a reservoir in the upper part of the Croton Valley, to be known as the Patterson reservoir. Mr. Killough also asked the Court to restrain the commissioners from submitting to the Corporation Counsel or any one else any maps of the district, and from making application to the Supreme Court for the condemnation of any of the land shown on the maps.

J. Hampden Dougherty, who argued the case for Killough, said that the purpose of the proposed reservoir is to aid the commissioners in prolonging their official life for many years. He said that the cost of the reservoir will be about $3,500,000, and that it is a useless expenditure of the city's money. Mr. Dougherty said that even the Mayor had recommended that the Aqueduct Commissioners be abolished, on receiving an opinion from the Corporation Counsel that their work can be done better by the Department of Water Supply. He said that not more than 7,000,000 gallons of water a day will come from the proposed reservoir, while the city uses 300,000,000 gallons a day. He declared that the commissioners are more intent on their salaries and their continuance in office than upon serving the interests of the city.

Morgan J. O'Brien, who appeared for the commissioners, asserted that they have acted in good faith in advising the construction of the Patterson reservoir. He said that the main purpose in creating the Aqueduct Commission was to have a body which should have comprehensive control of the development of the city's water supply.

"They have acted in good faith," said Mr. O'Brien, "after a thorough investigation the Court will not substitute itself for the Aqueduct Commissioners upon whom rests the obligation of developing the Croton aqueduct system to its capacity in order to avert the danger of a water famine to the city of New York."

The Court reserved decision.

$30,000,000 C. P. R. STOCK AT 125.

New Issue to Be Offered to Shareholders—Announcement at Annual Meeting.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—The most important feature of the annual meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway to-day was the announcement of the forthcoming issue of $30,000,000 of new stock at 125. This is the first issue in the history of the company that the stock has been issued at a premium. Hitherto all issues have been at par.

David McNicoll, Charles R. Hosmer, the Hon. Robert Mackay and the Hon. James Dunsinuir were re-elected directors. The president after referring to the $30 line and its acquisition of the Wisconsin Central took up the new stock issue. He said:

"The sanction of the Governor in Council having been obtained, the shareholders at this special general meeting held a year ago took the necessary action to provide for an increase of the ordinary capital of the company from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000. The new stock was clothed with authority to issue the additional $50,000,000 in such amounts and on such terms from time to time, according to the requirements of the company, as they might determine.

"Anticipating future general requirements of the company and to meet them as they arise the directors think it prudent at this time to make provision for the necessary funds by offering to the holders of ordinary capital stock a portion of the unissued shares. It is proposed that the issue shall be made at a price of 125 per cent. of the shares registered in the name of each individual holder on the books of the company in London, New York and Montreal on November 15, and the issue price will be 125.

"The usual practice of having payment made in instalments at intervals of about six months will be followed, and interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum will be allowed on such payments."

At a meeting of the board of directors after the annual meeting the following officers were elected: Sir W. C. Van Horne, president; D. McNicoll, vice-president; members of the executive committee, R. B. Angus, McNicoll, B. C. Oster, M. P. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Lord Strathcona and Sir W. C. Van Horne.

WELZ PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Brewer's Trial on Perjury Charge to Begin Late in November.

John Welz, a member of the brewing firm of Welz & Zerweck, of Ridgewood, who has been under $5,000 bail since February of last year on indictments found by a Queens county Grand Jury charging him with perjury, was arraigned before a Justice of the Supreme Court in Flushing yesterday. He pleaded not guilty.

Welz's indictment grew out of the Grand Jury investigation of the sale of Kiegan, Park to the city, and in the indictment he is charged with producing evidence before the Grand Jury a fraudulent document in the form of a transfer of mortgage which purported to have been executed a year or so before, but which the Grand Jury claimed was drawn only some days before it was produced in evidence before that body. It was agreed yesterday between the prosecution and the defendant's counsel to fix the date for some time in the latter part of November in order to have the trial finished before the holidays. George J. W. Weller, who was also indicted for perjury in the same investigation, which was set for the second Monday in December.

OCEAN QUEEN SINKS.

Passenger Steamer in South Pacific Inter-Island Trade Hits a Reef.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—The Norwegian passenger steamer Ocean Queen struck a reef on September 16 while on her way from Tahiti to Makatea and sank the next day, according to wireless advices received here from the Mariposa, which is about 1,000 miles out and bound for this port.

The Ocean Queen sailed from Tahiti on September 15 with twenty-one passengers, who were all saved and taken to Tahiti. Capt. Johansen of the Ocean Queen, his wife, four engineers and part of the crew are on the Mariposa.

The accident was the result of a break in the engine room of the Ocean Queen. The Ocean Queen was owned in Liverpool and had been engaged in the inter-island trade of the South Pacific.

Anchorless and Golet Succeeded Harri man.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6.—Annual elections of three of the subsidiary lines of the Illinois Central Railroad were held here to-day. In the directorates of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley and the Chicago, St. Louis & New Orleans J. W. Anderson of New York, succeeded the late E. H. Harriman. In the directorate of the Canton, Aberdeen and Nashville Robert W. Golet was elected to succeed E. H. Harriman.

SOME POWDER HISTORY.

A. I. du Pont & Co. in the Government's Anti-Trust Suit.

There was a hearing yesterday at the office of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Company, 90 West street, in the action brought by the United States Government charging that that company violated the Sherman law. The hearing was before William G. Mahaffey, Federal examiner. The Government was represented by James S. Scarle and V. N. Rhodstrum, the defense by former Senator Spooner, George S. Graham, William S. Hilles and Townsend, Avery & Button of 7 Nassau street.

George L. Rood of Terre Haute, formerly the head of the Indiana Powder Company, was the first witness. He gave the details of the sale of the Indiana Powder Company to the Du Ponts, saying that absolutely no pressure was brought to bear upon him and that the sale was made because another company had come into the Indiana company's field. Rather than risk sharp competition, he said, his company preferred to accept the terms offered them by the Du Pont company.

Mr. Rood was called largely to contradict the testimony of an important previous witness for the Government, R. S. Wardell. He stated that in 1904, three years before the action against the Du Pont company was instituted, Wardell came to him and said that he had documents by which he hoped to influence the Government to prosecute the Du Pont de Nemours Powder Company and that if he was successful he would himself sue the company for $400,000 damages. Mr. Wardell had felt that he had been crowded out of business by the larger firm.

Alfred I. du Pont, vice-president of the company since its reorganization and head of the black powder division, was called next. He testified in regard to the purchase of the old company in 1902. He said he was the head of the older branch of the family and that when Eugene du Pont died, in 1902, none of the older lines was left in the business except those too old to take an interest in it. Then, as he felt that the company should never be allowed to pass from the hands of the family who had founded it, he himself had offered to buy it.

He had always been in the technical department of the firm, he said, and knew little or nothing of the business end of it, but when it was proposed to sell out to the highest bidder he felt that the business was his by right of heritage. It had not been apparent when he bought it, but he had it appraised and paid in full the value assigned to the business.

He then went on to give various details of the growth of the business from its earliest days and said that the price of powder had greatly decreased in the century that the Du Pont plant had been at work and that there was more competition to-day in the powder business than ever before.

In regard to trade agreements he said that when he took over the business he found several in effect that were at that time legal, but that there was none in existence at the time the suit was instituted. The last one, he thought, was abrogated in 1908.

At the conclusion of Mr. du Pont's testimony the hearing was adjourned for two weeks.

DIED AFTER MAKING HIS WILL.

The Wealthy Husband of the Woman to Whom He Left His Property Also Dies.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 6.—A number of sensations developed to-day in the contest before Surrogate Woodin when Attorney F. S. Coburn and District Attorney R. Burritt examined the witnesses to the will of the late Francis K. Mitchell, formerly a professor of music in the Brooklyn public school, who had bought a lonely island, known as Kippis Island, down the Seneca River, in the heart of the Montezuma marsh wilderness, and six years ago moved up from Brooklyn and occupied the house on the island alone. He bought a big piano and other musical instruments and apparently was spending his last days composing. He was 82 years of age.

Last December Christina MacGregor, a trained nurse of about 35 years of age, came to Montezuma and visited the octogenarian. She became acquainted with Solomon Meil, a wealthy native, and in January married him. In April Mitchell publicly asked the Meils to reside with him and Mrs. Meil, who had been married to Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell on June 10, he made a will of less than thirty words, leaving everything to Mrs. Meil. He left 360 acres of land, valued at about $100,000, and died, death being said to be due to old age.

Mrs. Meil sought to have the will probated, and suddenly last month her husband died, aged 57 years, also. Death was said to have been caused by medicines administered by the woman. She called for an autopsy, which was made by Dr. Burdick, who also died, and they declared that Meil died of heart trouble. District Attorney Burritt, however, investigated, and while refusing to give out anything, said that he found the autopsy did not include examination of the stomach. The will contest was adjourned to-day for additional examination of the witnesses on October 26, when objections to the will will be filed.

28 DEAD IN WELLINGTON MINE.

Open Lights Caused Mysterious Explosion on Vancouver Island.

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—Details of the disaster in the Wellington colliery have reached here from Vancouver Island. Twenty-eight lives, according to some reports, are lost. The explosion occurred in No. 4 slope, No. 2 mine. The place is supposed to have been set on fire by men working with open lights. The liberation of gas from a pocket is supposed to have caused the explosion and afterdamp followed quickly.

Twenty men employed above the point where the explosion occurred were out of the mine at the time of the explosion. The explosion occurred about 9 o'clock and a miner quitting work brought the news to Nanaimo. He had reached the place when the explosion occurred and the place he had left. The shock was terrific, stoppings being blown and doors unhinged. The effect was confined to the slope where the explosion occurred.

This evening eight bodies have been recovered. The work still continues, but it is not expected that any more bodies will be recovered before morning, as the portion of the mine where the explosion occurred is badly wrecked, the brattice being torn down and the rescuing party badly hampered by gas.

THOUGHT HE WAS KIDNAPPED.

Small Boy Was Merely Being Arrested for Selling Transfers.

Frederick Caschel, 8 years old, of 551 Brook avenue, was arrested by Special Officer Magwood at 14th street and Third avenue because the boy was offering transfers for sale at that point. As the policeman was taking young Caschel away Mrs. Minnie Caschel, with two others of her children came upon him. Caschel said that her Frederick was being kidnapped and a crowd gathered and offered advice.

The Alexander avenue police station and told the kidnapping story. Lieut. Lockwood called out the reserves and the Detective Bureau was notified, and with the aid of neighbors a systematic search of the vicinity was made for Frederick, but without success. For Frederick was safe in the Morrisania police station, where he was held on a charge of juvenile delinquency.

After a while, however, Mrs. Caschel was notified. The boy was sent to the Children's society.

CLAIMS TO A MORSE BALANCE.

REFeree's Report on Proceedings of Realty Sale.

Sum of $78,846 Left After Satisfying Mortgage—Referee Says First Claim Belongs to F. R. Case, to Whom Morse Owed $331,500—Two Other Claims.

A transaction by Charles W. Morse in the fall panic days of 1907 which has not become public was made known yesterday when the report of Richard M. Martin as referee was filed in the County Clerk's office. It shows that on October 21, 1907, Morse was indebted to various banks on customers' notes in the sum of $1,020,000, which were negotiated by the firm of F. R. Mosely & Co., note brokers of 41 Exchange place.

The banks demanded additional security, whereupon Morse agreed with members of the note brokerage firm to sign a deed to his property, extending from 720 to 726 Fifth avenue. The deed was made out to Frederick R. Case as trustee for the firm. The firm then had the banks renew the notes. This deed was not recorded, although the referee finds that it was not from fraudulent motives but in perfect good faith.

During the summer the George Kemp Realty Company, from which Morse bought 720 and 722 Fifth avenue, foreclosed a purchase money mortgage on that property, and after the mortgage had been satisfied there remained $78,846 on deposit with the referee.

Various creditors put in a claim for this surplus money. Case, by virtue of holding the deed to all the property, asserted that he had a first lien on the same in behalf of the firm of Montrose W. Houck, who recovered a judgment for $28,825 on a promissory note, also made claim, as did Bayard L. Peck, trustee in bankruptcy of the Escobar firm of Whitney & Kitchen, who got a judgment for $25,431 last May on stock transactions Morse had with the firm.

Referee Martin, who was appointed to determine what should be done with the surplus, says in his report that on September 9 last Morse still owed Mosely & Co. $331,500, but that the firm had collected for $150,000, which left Morse owing the firm $181,500. As this amount is greatly in excess of the $78,846 surplus the referee concludes that Case is entitled to the whole amount, that Houck's claim is a second lien on the surplus and that Peck's claim is subordinate to Houck's.

METZ SEES ESSEX MARKET.

Comptroller Also Visits His Impressions of Ludlow Street Jail.

Comptroller Metz at the request of Albert J. Weber visited Essex Market court yesterday afternoon and in conjunction with the investigation committee of the Grand Jury, of which Weber is the chairman, investigated the court. He said conditions were bad, but not as bad as in certain station houses.

Next the Comptroller looked through the Ludlow street jail, which he remarked would make an excellent alimony club, as all it needed was an orchestra to take the place of the police patrol in the yard.

"What ought to be done is to have the Legislature take this jail from the custody of the Sheriff and put it under the Department of Correction," said Mr. Metz. They ought to put in a minimum of prisoners in with these civil ones to keep the place clean. It costs as much to keep these men here as it would at the Waldorf."

Before leaving he told Mr. Weber that at the next meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment he would vote for an appropriation or for revenue bonds to erect a new Essex Market court building. It is estimated that a building would cost $150,000.

The Mayor has promised Mr. Weber that he too will inspect the building in a few days.

WINS AGAINST X-SCIENTIST.

Healer Must Give Back the Property She Got From Miss Arthur.

Justice Marean in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday decided in favor of Miss Greta M. Arthur in her suit against Miss Agnes Young, a Christian Science healer, to have the deed of property valued at $18,000 set aside on the ground that improper influence was used by the defendant to induce her to part with it. The property must, according to the decision, be put in the same position as it was in before the transfer to Miss Young.

Justice Marean told the defendant's lawyers that they should see that the necessary papers were drawn so that the decision of the Court could be speedily carried out.

"There is a human side to the case," he said. "The defendant should have a chance for the property for repairs and other legitimate expenses and for money she advanced. I am not sure but she should have back her attorney's fees, but for the rents she must account."

PEARY'S CREW SIGHTSEEING.

Newfoundlanders Will See the Town To-day Before Disbanding.

The Newfoundlanders who compose the crew of Commander Peary's ship, the Roosevelt, are to have an outing to-day as the guests of Archer M. Huntington, president of the American Geographical Society, and President Osborn of the Museum of Natural History.

Mr. Huntington and Mr. Osborn felt that the sailors had been somewhat neglected during their stay here and as they disband to-morrow to go to their homes the two men determined to give them a chance to see the city.

The men will come ashore from the Roosevelt at 9 o'clock this morning and under the guidance of Mr. Huntington will be taken to the Metropolitan tower. Then they will be taken on a sightseeing tour. At the Museum of Natural History Mr. Osborn has arranged to have them see all there is. At the Bronx Zoo they have seen the best guidance and at 1 o'clock they will listen to a short lecture. They will then ride downtown again all the way to the Battery and visit the Aquarium.

EXPRESS AND FREIGHT CRASH.

Three Killed and Three Badly Hurt in Head-on Collision in New Brunswick.

DALHOUSIE, N. B., Oct. 6.—Three trainmen were killed, another was buried under wreckage and probably fatally injured and two others were seriously injured early to-day when the Maritime Express train from Halifax and another collided head on with a special freight train at Nash's Creek, about twenty-two miles from here, on the Intercolonial Railroad. Those killed were Engineer John Morton, Engineer Whalen and Express Messenger William S. Morrison.

The injured were: Fireman Cook, leg off, Brakeman Jackson, leg broken, and Fireman Cook of Campbellton was buried under the debris of his locomotive.

No passenger was injured beyond being shaken up and bruised. Both trains came together with a great crash, and the two locomotives and several cars of the freight train were derailed. The property was estimated at about $100,000.

The wreckage caught fire shortly after the collision.

Paper Takes Kindly to Newsboys' Name for It.

The name of the Jersey City Evening Journal, founded more than forty years ago by John Z. Lee, Mayor of Paterson, was changed yesterday to the Jersey Journal. The management adopted the title given to the paper by busy newsboys.

Do your arches ache?
It must have been a real architect that designed our "Pedwell" shoe for aching arches.
For it's a daisy.
The specially shaped heel extending well out under the arch, and the curved steel support hidden in the sole do the trick.
The "Pedwell" shoe means comfort for men whose arches are broken down, and protection for men whose weight makes arch troubles imminent.

Of course any quantity of the woolen mixtures used in our wintersuits are ornamented with threads of colored silk run through the fabric.

But there's a class of fabrics in which silk is a still more important factor.

Silk mixtures they're called—and handsome, luxurious cloths they are.

These suits cost from $30 to $40.

Our $1.50 glove is a sort of steady bargain sale.

Made in England of real tan cape skin—it sure is a special value.
